THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN OF EDUCA-TION-PURIFYING CHINATOWN-BIG WHEAT CHARTERS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] San Francisco, Sept. 5.-Another big Republican meeting was held here this week, Congressman McCall, of Massachusetts, being the principal speaker. Reports received by the State Central Committee show that the campaign of education is having its influence, especially in the mountain counties, where silver sentiment had gained a footing. The practical application of arguments showing what would be the result of free coinage of silver to the workingman has made an impression, even in the strongest mining districts. In manufacturing centres there is little need of argument to show the fallacies of the Chicago platform, as idle mills and factories are the best object-lessons of the results of the Democratic free-trade policy. In Benicia, which depends almost entirely upon manufactures, a well-informed resident says that three-quarters of the Democrats have announced their intention of voting for McKinley.

The Mechanics' Institute Fair, which opened this week, is noteworthy, as it is mainly devoted to exhibits of California-made goods. Any tourist who wishes to see the endless variety of California's products cannot do better than make a careful study of this display. In goods and fruits the exhibit is wonderful, and any one who has not followed recent improvements in canning and drying will be surprised at the results achieved.

Milk Inspector Dockery has just made his annual report, which shows that in nine months he has inspected no less than 3,700 cows and condemned 7,300 gallons of milk. He is the first man in his office to enforce the regulations, and the result has been a marked decrease in infant mortality. Like the Board of Health, Mr. Dockery complains of niggardly appropriations, but his work shows what an efficient man can do to insure pure food for a big city.

The Board of Health yesterday began tearing down condemned tenements and rookeries in Chinatown. In several cases the owners of the houses had informed Chinese tenants that the Health Board had no legal right to destroy the premises, so when axemen began their attack on rotten timbers the coolles swarmed out like rats. This movement will be sure to arouse owners to the necessity of putting their houses in proper sanitary condition.

The failure of B. J. O'Farrell, the real estate agent, will entail a loss of $34,000 upon his patrons. His failure will probably lead many real estate owners, especially non-residents, to investigate the solvency of agents to whom they have intrusted their property.

Father Conrade, the priest who has ministered to the lepers on Molokai Island, Hawaii, visited the pesthouse and inspected the accommodations for the unfortunates there. He declared that lepers were better cared for here than in Molokai, Japan or China.

United States Special Treasury Agent Moore scored a victory this week in the conviction of ex-Inspector Richard Williams for extorting money for the illegal landing of Chinese women. Collector Wise and other officers championed Williams acause, but he was convicted through testimony of his divorced wife, who showed that he deposited money at the rate of about $2,000 a month when he was drawing a monthly salary of $150.

Lord Sholto Douglas, the erratic son of the Marquis of Queensberry, who last year created a sensation by marrying a young 'dive' actress, has decided to enter a business college and acquire a commercial education. It seems that a hank clerkship has been offered him if he will fit himself for the place. His wife declares that the newspapers have misrepresented nor theatrical success. Sholto is living with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mooney, who claims descent from a line of Irish kings and who has furnished most of the humor that lighted up the escapades of Queensberry's son.

August was the banner month for wheat charters. There were thirty-five charters reported here in that month, aggregating 68,000 tons. Three of these were at Tacoma, and three at Portland, to load at these ports. Deducting these leaves twenty-nine for this port, aggregating 56,526 tons.

Some of the songs which Charles B. Ward will sing in the performance of "Affer Dark" at the Columbus Theatre, Harlem, to-morrow are "Music in the Park." "The Girl with the Naughty Wints were seen. "THE GEISHA" AT DALY'S.

A SKETCH OF THE MUSICAL PLAY WHICH IS TO BE SEEN THIS WEEK.

The preliminary season of Daly's Theatre will open on Wednesday night, with the first performance in this country of "The Geisha," the Japanese musical play which has had a long and successful run at Daly's Theatre in London. Mr. Daly has been giving personal attention to the rehearsals ever since his return from Europe a week ago.

The plot of the piece is briefly as follows: The first scene shows the grounds of the Tea House of Ten Thousand Joys, in Japan. The attendants are waiting on their guests, and the tea girls are very busy. The principal geishas, attended by their housmes, are discovered. The champion of the geishas is O Mimosa San, an accomplished dancer and singer, who is beloved by Captain Katana, of the Governor's Guards. Reginal Fairfax, of H. M. S. Turtle, having firted a little with Mimosa, the jealousy of his sweetheart. Molly Seamore, is excited. Now the Marquis Imari, the Chief of Police and Governor of the province, has set amorous eyes on Mimosa, and, in order to obtain her, he cancels on Mimosa, and, in order to obtain the the license of Wun-hi, the proprietor of the tea house at which she is engaged, so that all the girls are put up for cale by auction. The Marquis, however, is outbidden by Lady Constance Wynne, who is travelling in Japan; but Molly, having dressed is travelling in Japan; but Molly, having dressed is travelling in Japan; but Molly, having dressed marquis and carried off to his palace, in the grounds of which the second act takes place.

Juliette Diamant, a French girl, who is attached to the tea house ar interpreter, is scheming to marry the Marquis herself, and she and Mimosa join with Fairfax in endeavoring to get Molly out of the palace before she is married to the ciderly Imari. In the end an English costume is conveyed to the intended bride by Juliette, Molly passes out and joins her friends, and the French girl is married to the Marquis, Mimosa pairing off with Captain Katana.

In the company which has been engaged are Miss Dorothy Morton, Miss Vlolet Lloyd, Miss Marie St. John, Miss Percy Haswell, Miss Mabel Gillman, Edwin Stevens, Herbert Gresham, Van R. Wheeler and William Sampson. the license of Wun-hi, the proprietor of the tea

THE ARION SOCIETY'S AFFAIRS.

None of the members of the Arion Society who were seen yesterday would say anything as to the reported shortage in the accounts of Edward Gauss, the financial secretary. The officers of the society are away on the annual excursion, and the only member of the Executive Committee who could be found was ex-President John B. Pannes, who said that he knew absolutely nothing about the case.

Mr. Gauss is the head of the firm of Edward Gauss & Co., No. 57 Willett-st. He was not at his place of business when a Tribune reporter called place of business when a Tribune reporter called there yesterday, nor could be be found at his home, No. 329 East Plfty-fifth-st. The reports which were circulated seem to have had little effect on Mr. Gauss's standing with his fellow members of the society, as those who were seen all speak well of him, and believe that if any difference did exist in his accounts it will be made

RELATIVES OF JOHN ROACH RETURN.

Among the passengers on board the steamship Campania, which served at this port on Friday, were Mr. and Mrs. William F. McPherson, Miss Emmeline Roach and Stephen G. and Belden Roach. Mrs. McPherson and Miss Roach are daughters of the late John Roach, the famous American ship-builder, and the young men are the sons of the ate Garret Roach, who was actively connected with the great industry established by his father, John Roach. The returning tourists were welcomed home by Stephen W. Roach, youngest son of John Roach, who went to Quarantine on his steam yacht, the Parthenia, accompanied by a party of friends, among whom were Senator Charles B. Page, Excise Commissioner George Hilliard, Colonel Joseph Deeming and Captain Cammachio.

When I was thirteen years old I began to have sore eyes and ears, and from my ears a humor spread. I declered with five different skillind dectors, but they did me no good. My disease was Eczema. MANY NEW PLAYS.

SOME THAT HAVE COME AND OTHERS

THAT ARE COMING SOON. The outlook at the beginning of John Drew's engagement at the Empire Theatre is most enand interest in "Rosemary," and the house has been full every night. If the later weeks of the run fulfil the presage of the first one no further requisition will have to be made on Mr. Drew's list of plays while he stays at the Empire.

The music of "The Caliph" and the popularity of the star, Jefferson De Angelis, seem to be the features of the present offering at the Broadway Theatre which contribute to the cheerful appearance of the house. The new operatta has been warmly welcomed and much enjoyed.

E. H. Sothern is renewing his old favor at the Lyceum Theatre in his new romantic play, "An Enemy to the King." Mr. Sothern's engagement at the Lyceum has always proved one of the most interesting occurrences of the early season, and the present instance seems to be no exception. Miss Virginia Harned is still playing the leading woman's part.

At the Garrick Theatre to-morrow night Albert Chevaller will appear in the sort of entertainment in which he thinks that he is seen to the best advantage. It will be strictly a variety performance but he will contribute a large part of it himself, and in the win contribute a large part of it himself, and in the small room he will be near enough to his audience to give them the full effect of what he does better than is possible in a large music hail. The people who will appear with the coster singer at the Garrick are Harry Brett, a popular singer from the London music halls; tyrus Dare, a musical monologist; Alfred West, planist; Miss Elsa Joel, soprano; Charles Bertram, magician; Harry Atkinson, styled "the Australian Orpheus," and the Sisters Abbott.

The season begins at the Harlem Opera House to-morrow. As it is Labor Day, there will be a matinee, Herrmann, the magician, assisted by Mrs Adelaide Herrmann, will introduce the season of entertainments which is just beginning for the peo-ple of Harlem. It has been four years since the magician appeared at the Harlem Opera House, and in that interval he has made new and pictur-esque additions to his structure of magic.

Old-time New-York theatregoers are visiting Hoyt's Theatre in large numbers to see J. H. Stoddart in the two scenes of "The Long Strike," in which he appears just before the farce "The Liar" Mr. Stoddart's triumph of a quarter of a century ago in the part of Moneypenny has not been forgotten, and many who remember his interpretation of the part are glad to accept the opportunity to see it again.

It is not easy to remember a time when there was so much melodrama in town all at once as there is now. It is all up and down each side of the city. The Academy of Music continues to present "Under the Polar Star," which drew large houses when it was the only play of the kind in town. If it keeps up its prestice against all its present riva sit will prove itself to have attractive powers quite out of the common.

The general trend of the writer of melodrama in search of scenes seems to be just now toward the north. "Unfer the Polar Star," "Northern Lights" and "The Great Northwest" are among those now current. The last-named is still announced at the American Theatre, and there will be a special holi-day matinee to-morrow.

Beginning with the Labor Day matinee, "The War of Wealth" will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House for one week. This play had a long run at the Star Theatre last season. It is from the pen of C. T. Dazey, the author of "In Old Kentucky." All the original scenery will be used

The leading feature of the bill at Koster & Bial's to-morrow night will be the first appearance at this house of Eugene Stratton, who has gained a large reputation for his negro songs in the Lon-Ion music halls. He is an American, but has been in England for the last sixteen years. Miss Cissy In England for the last sixteen years. Allos Clesy Fitzgerald will also appear at the half for the first time, and it is announced that she has some new dances. Further contributions to the entertainment will be made by the three Macarte Sisters, the Phoites, pantomimists. Lavater's dog orchestra, Licutenant Noble, ventriloquist, Kaoly, contor-tionist; Griffin and Dubois, Miss Anna Boyd, the Jordans and Jean Clermont's trained animals.

Gustave Amberg designates the co the Grand Central Palace roof garden as week." He probably knows why, if anyl To-morrow night, being that of Labor Day made a special occasion, and Saturday is and as "Italian Night and Benefit for the German Press Club," certainly a promising combination. The entertainers promised for the week are Fisher and Carroll, Harry Crandall, the Sisters Bernard, in their acrobatic song and dance novelties, Mile, Pasquelena, "Prince Fee" Long, Chinese acrohat and juggler; the Weston Sisters, Valeska, Lottie Mortimer and Alonzo Hatch. Since the opening night many cuts have been made in "Marty Malone" at the Bijou Theatre, and the performance now ends before II o'clock. Mr. Har-rigan's acting is nightly applauded. An extra La-bor Day matinee will be given to-morrow at 2:15 p. m. A series of autumn concerts will begin at the Eden tinue for several weeks. This series will differ from the recent summer concerts in consisting of more classical music. A special programme has been arranged for Labor Day, and in addition to the regu-lar numbers there will be many selections of patri-otic airs. Proctor's Pleasure Palace begins its second year and season with a holiday bill for Labor Day. The American debut of Ara, Zebra and Vora will introduce a trio of acrobats who are well known in Their tricks include difficult balancing on pedestals, pyramids and staircases, and the turn ing of handsprings on a table covered with scores of many-colored lights. Jones and Robinson are omic acrobats from Berlin. Among others on the bill are the Brothers Horn, assisted by May Evens Herr Grais and his trick donkey and equestrian baboon; the Two Bostons, Gertrude Mansfield, George H. Wood, Worth and Marshall, Burns and Coakley, H. Wood, Worth and Marshall, Burns and Coakley, Lee Page Sisters, transformation dancers; Andy Amman, mimic; Hal James, novelty dancer; Annie Ott, Clara Cole and Lea Remonde. The Garden of Palms will take on the aspect of an African Jungle, with frequent performances by Mile. Planka's African lions and the constant exhibition of the eight cubs, only a few weeks old. For the Sunday concert, from 2:30 p. m. to 11 p. m., there are many special entertainers, including John C. Rice and Sally Cohen, A. O. Duncan, Cushman and Holcomb, Lulu Theiss and McBride and Gordon.

The Labor Day vaudeville at Proctor's Theatre, Twenty-third-st., will be prolific in mirth and melody. A. O. Duncan, the funny ventriloquist, makes his manikins comment on Li Hung Chang's visit and other timely topics. Cushman and Holcomb have a new act. Arnim and Wagner and the Panizer Brothers are about to go out with Mr. Proctor's road company. In the long list are also Daly and road company. In the long list are also Daly and Devere, the three Sisters Lane, George H. Timmons, harpist and vocalist, McBride and Gordan; Fritz, Leslie and Eddte, in their trick pantomime, "An Enchanted House"; Baker and Randall, novelty dancers; the Fenton Brothers, the Arnold Sisters, duettists; Nick Adams, Catherine R. Palmer, Pearl Davis and Marguerite Veroni. In the Sunday concert bill, from 2:30 to 11 p. m., are special entertainers, including Pat Reilly, Morton and Reveile, Charles H. Duncan, Thompson and Bunnell, Miles and Raymond and the Leon Sisters.

Charles B. Jefferson will be the manager of a new vaudeville organization to be known as Sandow's

The Commissioner of Public Works has written a letter to the Civil Service Board, suggesting that inspectors of street openings be placed under Civil Service rules. Hitherto these inspectors have been appointed by the Commissioner, and are responsible to him. They are paid by the persons for whom whom the streets are opened. Deputy-Commissioner Wilds said yesterday that

They have to do with highways, which should be protected as far as possible from injury by improper and unnecessary openings, and insure proper repairs after the openings in the streets are made.

The first work after removing the floor was the filling in of the supporting arches, which had become an abiding-place for rats.
